

Letter explains campaign Scouts to distribute cleanup warning

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

A "first warning" will be served to Romulus residents who don't bother to clean up their property.

Scout volunteers will be distributing letters from Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt to every home in Romulus informing the owner to clean up or face court action by the city.

"The voters of Romulus elected a new administration indicating their desire for a more efficient government as well as cleaning up their city," Troutt wrote in the letter to homeowners. "Part of that new administration's platform was an extensive

'It's time the people of this city take notice of what they are doing to the community.'

clean-up campaign as an initial step in providing Romulus with the wholesome and desirable image it so deserves."

LAST WEEK, Troutt said the court dockets will be filled if residents ignore the warning. "We intend to ticket violators of our clean-up ordinance, not with warnings but with citations to appear in courts," Troutt said.

"It's time the people of this city take notice of what they are doing to the community by ignoring the blight literally in their own back yards."

While violators will be prosecuted, cooperators will be awarded stickers declaring their property was up to standards during the campaign.

As part of the campaign, Troutt will have another ordinance inspector to check businesses and industries in the community for violations of the clean city codes in Romulus.

JAMES DARNELL, 52, has been hired to work in the ordinance department under Romulus Police Chief Jacob Koch to inspect businesses and industries "street by street, building by building" to point out problem areas with the reminder he will return to make sure his recommendations are carried out.

"We realize homeowners are not the only violators," Troutt said. "So Jim will be on the road to make sure all areas of the city are cleaned."

Troutt said the new inspector has "good qualifications" for his job, including 20 years in the Air Force as a security officer.

Darnell has been stationed at the former Metropolitan Airport Air National Guard headquarters, and was then transferred to Selfridge Air Force Base to complete his tour of duty.

City to carry expansion fight to federal level, if necessary

Romulus' campaign against further expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport without some sort of show cause procedure will be carried to the federal level.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt is making arrangements to meet with representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

"I intend to tell FAA representatives in the Lansing office that we will meet at their convenience to detail what the Wayne County Road Commission has done with their funds in the name of expansion," Troutt said.

"CONGRESSMAN William D. Ford (D-15th District) is arranging a meeting between city officials and the FAA in Washington to coincide with his national legislative conference to be held in May," he added.

Troutt said a meeting with FAA officials is necessary for his campaign to force the airport governing body - the Wayne County Road Commission - to "show cause" before seizing more of Romulus' land in the name of "progress."

The FAA offers the road commission matching federal funds for the purchase of land adjacent to the airport to allow expansion.

It is partially because federal funds are involved that the road commission has found itself in trouble with Romulus.

CITY OFFICIALS told the Wayne County Circuit Court that the road commission has not complied with federal regulations concerning land acquisition when seizing land from Romulus' residents since 1971.

According to federal law governing grants for public works improvements, residents who lose their homes and livelihoods to condemnation proceedings or land acquisitions are entitled not only to the fair market price of their property, but also up to $15,000 in relocation expenses and loss of income adjustments at the time of sale.

According to reports to the Romulus City Council by local citizens, officials of the road commission did not inform the residents of their rights under the law.

A Wayne County Circuit Court judge last week told the road commission that hearings on more than 20 condemnation cases, that inspired the protest before the council, would be delayed between six months and a year.

Pool levy eyed

A building and site levy for the construction of a swimming pool complex at Romulus High School will be discussed by the Romulus Board of Education at 7:30 tonight.

Romulus School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy said he will recommend the 3 1/2 mill levy over a two year period for more than $1 million.

The board also will hear a proposal from Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar that the city handle all elections in the community, including school elections. If approved by the board of education and the city, the new system would do away with duplication of records.

Other action to be considered by the board of education is the renovation of the tennis courts at the high school following a report on the improvements needed presented by Thomas Janack, assistant superintendent of maintenance and operation.

The agenda also will contain recommendations on purchases for the school district and personnel actions.

City inspects houses for structural defects

More than 110 homes built in Romulus during the past 12 months will be reinspected by the city to find possible structural defects due to poor workmanship.

The city's three building inspectors, and a still to be named chief inspector, will be checking every home in the area of Middlebelt and Eureka roads to find faults in workmanship.

"We'll then tell the builders to correct the faults or face losing their licenses," said Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt.

TROUTT ORDERED the reinspection after receiving a report from a private engineering consultant that 10 homes checked on a random basis in subdivisions near the major intersection "showed gross violations of code."

The engineering consultant found closets that did not meet minimum space requirements, thin flooring that was not up to code, windows that would not open, doors that remained stuck, poor cement work, stairways that were not secured, poor insulation and fire hazards due to construction that violated city and state codes.

"We don't deny that the city is responsible for these problems," Troutt said. "If the inspectors did a shoddy job, the builders will cut corners."

"But now the builders will have to own up or face the possible loss of their licenses."

TROUTT SAID two builders are involved. They are Kauffman and Broad and Republic Builders.

Troutt said the city will "go to Lansing" if it does not receive cooperation from both builders following the inspections.

The City of Westland took the same tack two years ago following resident complaints on poorly constructed homes and eventually cleaned up similar problems in its newer subdivisions.

Troutt said more problems may result from a misinterpretation of the city's building code by the two builders, however.

BOTH BUILDERS took out building permits for properties in the city prior to May 25, 1972 - the date the city adopted a new tougher building code.

Secures state school aid

Landslide vote sweeps in hike in Huron tax levy for schools

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

In almost a landslide election, Huron School District voters approved a 4.35 mills operating tax hike which paved the way for approximately $1 million in state aid to be directed their way over the next three years.

An overwhelming 73 per cent of the voters said yes to the increase, which brings Huron's operating level up to the necessary 25 mills to qualify for Michigan's state aid-to-schools program, called the Bursley Bill.

Thirty per cent of the district's registered voters visited the three polling places Monday or balloted as absentees, and the election figures showed 783 "yes" votes and 289 "no."

"THIS IS a great day for the whole district," said an elated Phillip Dalley, district administrative assistant.

"It means over the next three years we will receive almost one million dollars in additional operating money from the state," he said. "Plus, it relieves from the local taxpayers' shoulders our tax burden."

Dalley added that the 4.35 mills would be "phased in" over the next several years, to gradually reduce the district's debt retirement level.

The Huron official credited the landmark victory, which pulled the district out of its long-standing financial pinch, to a "changing climate" among voters.

"PEOPLE ARE feeling better about schools," he said. "They're more knowledgeable and understanding about the districts' problems. We made a real effort to explain that the increase would mean the additional state aid."

"In the past we've had a very tough time with elections, trying to convince people that a tax increase is needed, but this is a changing district and a changing climate."

trends, according to its chairman, James A. Tillotson.

The commission is preparing a report to be presented at a public hearing before the Huron Township Board of Trustees within the next two months, he added. Tillotson said changes being considered for the zoning regulations include provisions which would regulate closely the use of land in the township.

"Our current zoning ordinances were set in 1958," Tillotson said. "The township was more rural back then. Now it's more densely populated. The zoning criteria that prevailed then doesn't prevail today, so we need to regulate the use of land."

Tillotson labeled the proposed zoning changes as "guidelines for the future," but declined to list any specific revisions forthcoming from the commission.

"We're just trying to update the zoning regulations to reflect current trends and today's thinking," he added. Tillotson said the commission has been meeting each Thursday in anticipation of having its proposals completed and ready for presentation to the trustees "within the next two months."

Continuing fears of gasoline shortages, despite the lifting of the Arab Oil boycott, have changed the American car market into a small car market.

While the major automakers must take time to gear their production to the new small cars, foreign importers are getting a jump on sales.

To fight back, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock last week urged Congress to establish import quotas for foreign-made cars.

WOODCOCK said foreign imports accounted for 15.5 per cent of the U.S. auto sales during 1973, including 17 per cent in December.

In January imports accounted for 18.7 per cent of the market, and in February the share dropped to 16.8 per cent.

But Woodcock said the problem may have been in supplies of foreign-made cars, and not in the demand by the public.

He urged that import quotas be established until Sept. 30, 1975.

Meanwhile, foreign manufacturers may be seeking new inroads in the American market.

Volvo, a Swedish automobile manufacturer, is proceeding with plans for a $100 million plant to be constructed in Virginia.

Buyers of the domestic-made small cars will be

Prices of small cars have jumped as much as 27 per cent over last year's base prices.

Ford Motor Company's Pinto prices rose $421 last year, to $2,442 — a 21 per cent jump. General Motors' Opel offered by Buick was up 27 per cent in price to $3,275.

Gremlin, American Motors' offering in the small car market, rose in price 15 per cent to $2,409 and Chrysler has raised the price of its compacts — Duster and Dart — $300 during the year. Duster costs $2,676; while Dart costs $2,804.

Other price increase ranges are: Maverick, 15 per cent to $2,591; Mustang II, five per cent to $2,895; Capri, 12.3 per cent to $3,566; Vega, 15.5 per cent to $2,380 and Nova, up 12 per cent to $2,647.

At the same time, General Motors is offering its former customers, owners of 1969 through 1972 models, "energy checks" to help boost performance.

In an unprecedented move, General Motors is notifying more than 12 million customers that its dealers will determine if cars are running economically.

Included in the package is a $2.50 discount for a 15-minute spot check on economy and a $5 discount on a tune-up.

Although the company has set no price yet, it indicated tune-ups will cost between $20 and $40.

Chrysler Corp. announced last week it paid nearly $86 million in pensions to more than 32,500 Chrysler retirees or their spouses during 1973.

Of that amount, $67.3 million was in regular benefits and the remaining $18.7 million was in supplemental benefits.

Despite industry forecasts of a brightening outlook for new car sales this spring, the nation's auto production was down 5.3 per cent during the past week when compared to the previous week.

Production was down to 143,175 units during the past week, compared to 151,080 during the previous week, according to the Automotive News.

During the same week last year, production was up to 214,197.

Residents cite inflation as their big problem

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Inflation appears to be the biggest problem Romulus residents want Michigan gubernatorial hopeful Sander Levin to attack.
In a spot door-to-door survey of some Romulus homes, Levin was told by several residents that inflated costs, particularly for food,

Folmar proposes plan to gain more licenses

Romulus Clerk Leonard Folmar believes the city should receive special treatment because of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.
He has suggested that the Romulus City Council adopt a resolution that would urge the Michigan Legislature and the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to waive present rules governing liquor licenses for the city.
Presently, Romulus is entitled to one license for every 1,500 residents. The licenses not only have to take care of the drinking desires of Romulus residents, but also are to satisfy the desires of transient visitors to local motels.
"THERE JUST aren't enough licenses to go around, if you consider there are nearly four million passengers going through the airport annually," Folmar said. "Right now the Holiday Inn can not serve liquor because there aren't enough licenses." Folmar said he would hope the same rules governing the Wayne County Road Commission on liquor licenses

Moore awaits ruling

The township supervisor's request for the resignation of Huron Appeals Board Chairman James A. Tillotson is still up in the air as far as the state attorney general's office is concerned.
Supervisor George W. Moore said the attorney general has not ruled on the legality of his request for Tillotson's resignation from the volunteer job. The supervisor has appealed to the state's highest law enforcement office for a decision on whether he has the power to fire Tillotson.
Moore's action was spurred when he said Tillotson accused him publicly of "malfeasance and misfeasance in office." Moore requested his resignation at a meeting of the township board of trustees, which informed him he did not have the power to remove Tillotson from office. Moore then petitioned the attorney general for a ruling.
Tillotson, meanwhile, denied ever accusing Moore of "malfeasance and misfeasance" but speculated Moore was "maybe...looking for publicity."

Levin was visiting the city to "get into the voters shoes" before he makes the official announcement he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor in the state to oppose the Republican incumbent, William G. Milliken.
MARY JEROME, a Romulus mother of three children, told Levin Friday afternoon that "food prices seem to be going up something like $10 every two weeks."

A four-year resident of the community, Mrs. Jerome said she, and her husband Norman, are concerned about the impact busing may have on their family.
"I had forgotten about it until I heard it was at the Supreme Court," Mrs. Jerome

"A week later, the guy's girlfriend came back with the tools and then I got the car."

THE PROBLEM of people not purchasing new cars somewhat bothers Leonard Dryer, a worker in the steel mill at the Ford Rouge Plant.
"I work in the steel mill, so I'm assured of a job," he said. "But if people don't buy new cars, that shuts down the rest of the plant, and it bothers me. I feel the situation got scared up to put the Watergate thing under the blanket for awhile."
Dryer said one of his most immediate concerns was the problem with law and order. "WHILE I had no trouble in Romulus, I had my Thunderbird stolen from the parking lot, and when they

County bill 'stuns' Huron officials

Huron Township officials, stunned by a $1,700 bill from Wayne County for water not used by the township in 1973, are confident the money won't have to be paid.
A 30-year contract agreement made between the township and the county in 1961 called for the township to receive 45-million gallons of water last year, but Huron usage came up several hundred thousand gallons short. As stated in the contract, the township would have to pay the difference for its deficit usage, $1,700 in last year's case.

Huron officials were taken by surprise when they received the county's bill, and said they were unaware that water usage under the 45-million gallon limit would cost them money.

"If I had known that, I would have gone around turning on fire hydrants to save us money," bemused

Huron Township Supervisor George W. Moore. He said the contract had not been looked at for several years since Huron had always used its water allotment.
However, the county has decided to renegotiate Huron's contract, which has 17 years remaining as originally detailed, and Moore is optimistic the township will not have to pay the $1,700.

"I don't think we will be charged for it in the end," Moore said. "The county isn't being pushy on it and we're in the process of renegotiating the contract right now."

Moore said the deficit water usage is due to "minus growth" in the township caused by the construction of the Huron-Clinton Metropark and Detroit Metropolitan Airport expansion, both of which extend into the township and consume land potentially conducive to home construction.
Huron's annual water bill amounts to an estimated $39,000, Moore said.

Cook also stressed that "while we perform a vital public service for sightless Americans, we also generate fellowship within the community through our social and community service projects."

The voluntary organization is international in scope, with chapters in free countries across the globe.
"We also give aid to relief

Was it a 'miscarriage' of justice?

The execution of Army Pvt. Eddie Slovik

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Enterprise-Roman Editor

Seldom do I place too much faith in so-called televised documentaries, and for good reason.

An example of my doubt was last month's NBC special on Army Pvt. Eddie Slovik.

Following the televised "documentary," the execution of Eddie Slovik was the topic of discussion by Americans of all walks of life. The general consensus was that Eddie Slovik was a victim of circumstance, and that he "got a raw deal from the military establishment."

PVT. SLOVICK DIED before an American firing squad in France on Jan. 31, 1945—after he was convicted of refusing front-line combat duty during the Battle of the Bulge...the final assault against Hitler's legions.

And according to available statistics, there were some 40,000 World War II deserters. But Slovik was the only American soldier—and the first since the Civil War—to be executed for combat desertion.

Since the NBC production, which was based on a book by author-journalist William Bradford Huie, the cry of restitution and "justice" is being heard in many circles.

IF AN INJUSTICE was done to Eddie Slovik, we'll never know. But we do know for a fact that thousands of Americans died in that World War No. 2.

Go tell these people there was a miscarriage of justice.

Now UAW Secretary Emil Mazey is asking for legislation to give Slovik's widow $10,000 life insurance and other pay and benefits...that normally go to a soldier's survivors.

Mazey told the Associated Press that his request for an investigation was based on the NBC documentary. He spoke of an "obvious" miscarriage of justice—if the facts portrayed in the film are accurate.

I read the book, and was well aware of the Eddie Slovik story from past newspaper accounts and stories written about the World War II draftee from Dearborn.

MAZEY GOES on to assert, and again based on the picture transmitted over the television tube, that "I believe Eddie Slovik received a raw deal from our military establishment."

He further requests that U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart and U.S. Rep. Lucien Nedzi introduce the necessary legislation to release military benefits for Mrs. Slovik.

The congressman and the senator said they will look into the case in mention—seeking legal advice and will study a Defense Department report—before reaching a decision.

I too sympathize with Mrs. Slovik. No doubt she has lived a life of misery, shunning friendships in fear someone will say: "Oh, your husband was that deserter shot in World War II..."

IF MRS. SLOVICK is in need of financial assistance, then she has every right as any other American to obtain financial help. If we can aid the four corners of the world, we should be able to care for our own.

But I can not buy Mazey's suggestion, and his indictment of the American military that saved mankind from the Nazis.

No one questions the heartbreak Eddie's widow suffered, especially when we know, and for a fact, that Mrs. Slovik did not learn of her husband's execution until after the war. But the Army is not the only organization that makes an occasional stupid blunder.

The sentiment going out to Mrs. Slovik is a sentiment not from World War II. It comes from what happened in Vietnam. In this war, deserters were hailed as men of conscience...as they fled to Canadian and Swedish sanctuaries. It was a war that divided this nation and led to the early exit of a United States president.

BUT LET'S GO BACK to World War II when free men were fighting and dying to stem the world conquest ambitions of Hitler and Tojo—and Americans were fighting and dying to preserve that freedom in Europe, Africa and the vast Pacific.

Out at Woodmere Cemetery in southwest Detroit, there's a small military plot. Go out there on Memorial Day this year and tell some weeping woman that her husband or son should have deserted in World War II. Tell that grieving person that all rights should be restored to deserters—and tell that to the mourners of our tragic Vietnam dead.

Should the Congress grant all restitutions to Slovik's widow, then the same rule should be applied to living deserters of that war and their survivors—Vietnam War included.

In essence, Mazey is telling America that Mrs. Slovik should get $10,000 because the "military establishment" killed her husband.

THE MILITARY establishment of this nation during World War II was charged with a critical task. Mankind's existence depended on this nation's military might to destroy the insane Nazi war machine.

The tragedy of Army Pvt. Eddie Slovik is real, but so is war and the thousands of unmarked American graves scattered around the free world.

My critics say: "You've never experienced the hell of war. You've never heard a front-line command to go out and kill or be killed..."

MY ONLY EXPERIENCE at the hell of war has come from years of interviewing crippled veterans of World War II, Jews who survived the Nazi dehumanization concentration camp at Dachau; and the still grieving widows, parents, and children who lost loved ones at Normandy, Anzio and Guadalcanal.

To my critics, I repeat: "Go tell these people there was a miscarriage of justice..."

As we see it

Van Buren district takes positive stand

Now that a resemblance of calm has returned to Belleville High School, the firm student disciplinary position taken by the Van Buren school district deserves the support of the total community.

The racial flare-up at the district high school was uncalled for, and hindered the school's educational process for four days when school officials were forced to suspend classes.

If problems exist, fighting is not the means to correct the problems. From our contact with district and high school personnel, Van Buren staff members have displayed a deep interest in the educational and individual development of all students — black and white.

The students who ignited the fighting, and those who participated — deserved the suspensions handed down by school officials.

Too often we hear that society is to blame for the problems we encounter. The same people who belabor the question; instigate, rather than offer assistance and understanding.

Educators have a responsibility to teach and foster a drive in each student to prepare for the adult world that awaits them. We do not expect our educators to serve as hall duty corrections officers.

At the same time, the district has served notice it intends to enforce existing school student codes. Part of our educational process is respecting the rights of individuals and the codes by which to survive as free-thinking persons. When those codes are broken, we have a disruption...and we can ill afford a disruption in education.

The student melee at Belleville High kept more than 1,700 students away from their classes for four days — and at taxpayers' expense.

Settling differences with acts of violence leads to a total polarization of thoughts, goals and aspirations.

The Van Buren system's handling of the fighting incident was in order — including the short-term suspensions handed down against the disruptive students.

SPEARING SAYS he'll try to confine the campaign to "the problems of the 8th district" and says he hopes the race "won't be clouded by outside issues."

But that is the strategy Republican Robert Vander Laan tried to use in the 5th District before he was defeated in a race which stunned the country.

And the attention which will be focused on the district by the national media as April 16 approaches will work against the argument to concentrate on local issues as it becomes clear national political figures are watching closely what happens.

There is one final liability for Spearling and the GOP. The election will be held April 16, the day after federal income taxes are due.

At the same time, Spearling admitted this week he has invited President Nixon to address the people of his district—in hopes the President can convince the voters that the White House is clean of any wrong-doing.

Another loss would further erode support for Nixon

REPUBLICANS HAVE lost three of the four races, including the seat formerly held by Vice President Gerald Ford, and another loss would further erode support for President Nixon within the party while a win might shore up some wavering supporters.

The votes case in the primary offer no solace to the Republicans. The GOP had a real race for the nomination while Traxler faced only token opposition, yet there were only 639 more Republican votes cast than two contestants for the Democratic nomination.

Republicans have by no means given up. They are bringing in U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., for a fund raiser April 3. The national and Congressional campaign staffs are sending in four or five people to help and state headquarters will send in people.

Traxler brought in a Minnesota, James Goff, to run his campaign and has lined up Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan and Henry

This time GOP is the underdog

Sparling faces uphill challenge

One of the most graphic indicators of what has happened to the Republican Party this year is the fact that the GOP candidate, James Sparling, is the underdog in the 8th Congressional District special election.

Normally, the election would be conceded to the GOP. The district has only gone Democratic once in this century and that was in 1932 during the depression. When the lines were redrawn in 1972, it was figured 57 to 58 per cent Republican.

THE GOP CAUSE should, in normal times, be helped further by the fact this is a special election and Republicans traditionally turn out better for special elections than Democrats.

But this is the year of Watergate and when voters cast their ballots April 16, a win by Sparling over Democratic State Rep. J. Bob Traxler of Bay City would be considered a stunning win.

The district will be watched closely from outside Michigan, since it is the last of a

Eastertime also means 'spring and fertility'

Council of Nicaea set the date of observance

(Editor's Note: The traditions of Easter are many. The following Associated Press report, reprinted from the Daily Eagle, touches on some of the traditions and how they started.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Easter, the principal feast of the Christian year, embodies many pre-Christian traditions.

Though the origin of the name is unknown, scholars believe that it probably comes from Eastre, the Anglo-Saxon name of the Teutonic goddess of spring and fertility.

Moreover, traditions associated with this pagan festival of spring survive in the Easter rabbit, a symbol of fertility, and in colored eggs originally painted with gay hues to represent the sunlight of spring.

The dating of the feast remains a controversial part of the celebration of this holiday. The method of calculating the date for Easter goes back to 325 A.D. and the Council of Nicaea, according to editors of the Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia. That system, which places Easter as the first Sunday after the first full moon on or after the spring equinox of March 21, is still followed. Despite innumerable attempts through the centuries to set a fixed calendar date, Easter continues to be a truly moveable feast. It can be celebrated as early as March 22 or as late as April 25. During the last 50 years it has occurred four times as often in April as in March.

In addition to religious traditions that are associated with the holiday celebration, Easter is enriched by native customs from many lands, according to the encyclopedia researchers. Many of them have to do with mating and marriage and have been handed down from generation to generation.

For instance, in Finland, Palm Sunday is known as Willowswitch Sunday. Children cut switches of willow, deck them with ribbons and lightly switch eligible young ladies to wish them a rich marriage. On Easter Sunday, the girls reward the children with candy and other goodies.

In Ireland, young people are expected to marry before Lent to provide a final fling before the fast. Bachelors who copped out would be shaken with salt "to keep them fresh until next Shrove-tide" or would be subjected to all manner of pranks.

From Ireland too, comes the origin of the expression "he takes the cake." It comes from an Irish Easter eve custom: a delectable cake would be placed in a pub or at a crossroads and the men would dance to compete for it. The winner "took the cake" and gave it to his sweetheart.

Wearing something new for Easter is almost a universal custom; in most countries it means good luck in love.

"Heaving" or "lifting" reportedly was an old custom in northern England and Scotland — a group of people would link hands and toss someone in the air, then that person would be kissed. The practice was that men, "lifted" women Easter Monday, and the women did the "lifting" on the following day.

In many countries, bonfires carried over from old pagan rites are now part of Easter Celebrations. It is reported that St. Patrick lighted the first paschal fire in Ireland on Slane Hill, 28 miles from Dublin, in 433 A.D. A spectacular sight occurs on Easter eve in the Harz mountains and other rural parts of Germany, when huge flaming wheels are rolled from hilltops down into the valleys. The lucky farmers in whose fields they come to rest are insured a good harvest. The idea started with the pagan fire cults of central Europe, in which the flaming wheel symbolized the sun.

Bonfires were the custom in rural France too, where the first Sunday of Lent is the Feast of the Torches — and torchlight parades are held to banish winter, culminating in a bonfire and dancing by young couples.

Bread baked on Good Friday was considered lucky in many European lands. Sailors would carry loaves with them on long voyages as protection against shipwreck and housewives would keep a loaf all year to protect the house from fire.

Child treatment must be retained

To the Editor: Should all emotionally disturbed children be forced to undergo probate court hearings to determine whether they need hospital care? Should the State of Michigan deny children the opportunity for voluntary admission and substitute mandatory commitment hearings? Should research into the causes and treatment of emotional problems in children cease?

These are no longer abstract issues in Michigan. Two attorneys, Clarice Jones of Detroit and Gabe Kaimowitz of Ann Arbor, have initiated a lawsuit in the Wayne County Circuit Court calling for the elimination of voluntary hospitalization for all emotionally disturbed children. They also insist the clinical research involving children in state hospital programs be ended immediately.

Because this lawsuit, captioned Jane Doe vs. the Michigan Department of Mental Health, raises many issues of vital concern, our Association has entered the case. We petitioned the Wayne County Circuit Court for permission to intervene on behalf of the parents of emotionally disturbed children and on behalf of hospitalized children themselves.

We are bringing this matter to your urgent attention because MAEDC does not accept the premise that parents are inevitable adversaries of their children or that parents generally do not have positive motivations in seeking psychiatric care for their children.

This is probably the most important involvement that MAEDC has undertaken in the 17 years of its work. In the weeks, perhaps months, ahead, we will need the help of all our Chapters and all our members and friends.

Need 'your help'

To the Editor: The tragedy of Richard and Linda Horn prompts me to write and take action. As an adoptive parent I would like to see the adoption laws changed. The 90 day option that a biological mother has in which to change her mind if she so desires, must be abolished.

Also, when an infant is placed up for adoption the infant is taken from the hospital and placed in a foster home. The adoptive parents then must wait any where from two to eight weeks for papers and the like. All legal red tape. I would like to see that legal red tape cut and adoptive parents pick up their son or daughter from the hospital.

I might add that no matter how good the state agencies feel their homes are, none, and I repeat none, can compete with the loving atmosphere of the adoptive home. I am sure that many of you feel as I do and will stand up and be heard. My husband and I need your help to do this.

CCAL (Citizens for Changing Adoption Laws) already have the promise of assistance from Rep. Edward Mahalak, and we hope to have more soon. But more important, your help is needed. We must unite. If you are concerned and would like to take part in CCAL, write Brenda or John Dawson at 1318 Russell St. Ypsilanti, Mich. 48197.

Good police work

To the Editor: This letter is to commend the efficient police force in the City of Belleville.

As Manager of Belle Villa Townhouses and sales agent for this development, I have had occasion to call the Belleville police regarding minor incidents involving stray dogs and speeding cars.

Their immediate and courteous response is a comfort to the present residents as well as being an added selling point to prospective purchasers. If insignificant calls are treated so efficiently it stands to reason that an "emergency" will be responded to within minutes.

Romulus residents air opinions

Survey tags discipline as top school problem

By SUE HAPP
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff
A sample survey of 500 Romulus residents by the Romulus Community Schools has ranked lack of discipline as the major problem plaguing the district and integration as at a suitable level.

The survey, conducted by telephone during mid-December and released in early March, showed that at least 20 per cent of those questioned felt discipline was the top problem in the schools. Although a national Gallup survey tagged discipline with 22 per cent of the responses, Romulus residents cited discipline as the major problem in only 20 per cent of the answers.

THE SCHOOL district's survey was conducted to measure public attitudes about the district with the end result as identifying the strengths and weaknesses in its programs.

The sample population ranged in age from 13 to 77 with the mean age falling in the 33 years-of-age range.

The major questions in the survey were the problems and the strengths of the school district.

In decreasing order, residents named drug usage, lack of facilities, the quality of teachers, integration and segregation and transportation as the district's six top problems after discipline.

OTHER GRIPEs included lack of proper financing, the dress code, school board policies, the administration and curriculum.

Those questioned said teachers were fourth major problem in the district, but found them also to be the top major strength of the school district at the same time. Thirty-four per cent of those surveyed cited teachers as a strength.

Curriculum, which collected two per cent of the responses as a problem, scored high as a strength with 11 per cent.

Discipline managed to collect only four per cent of the opinions as a strength with good facilities garnering four per cent.

THE SURVEYERS, Terrel LeCesne, principal of Beverly Elementary School, and William Smith, the director of the adult education program, interpreted the findings as a positive indicator of public support for the schools as a whole.

Sixty-five per cent of the responses were favorably with a majority of the parents indicating their children enjoyed attending school. They also said that the students were receiving a better education and that present course work is relevant to the children's needs.

Although the overall community attitude was favorable and paralleled the nationwide survey, the greatest disparity of opinion occurred in the area of integration and segregation.

The issue evoked little hostility from those surveyed. However, black participants generally were more anxious for increased efforts toward school integration.

THE SURVEY results indicated that most parents had confused integration with busing, considering the two synonymous. However, some did make a distinction between the two.

Differences in feelings on the issue were noticeable between the races, but a majority of those surveyed favored maintaining the status quo.

On a breakdown of the results, blacks felt more should be done. Forty-seven per cent favored no change with four per cent stating that less should be done.

White parents overwhelmingly favored no change in 81 per cent of the responses with 11 per cent supporting increased efforts. Eight per cent opted for the less should be done category.

IN COMPARISON to the national survey, 50 per cent more favored no change in the city than in the country with 15 per cent, half of the national figure, favoring more.

The responses fell 32 per cent behind the national survey in statements that less should be done.

The survey has helped the school district establish a priority list for programming and has helped identify the needs of the population as a whole.

The survey is being studied by the Romulus Board of Education with final action geared toward the development of alternative solutions to the problems and needs with probable consequences.

Pleased with the response among those participating in the survey, LeCesne and White have decided to maintain the telephone system for further use in information gathering endeavors.

Diners to aid Easter Seals

Among the more than 60 Wayne County restaurants participating in the second annual Easter Seal Society's "Coffee Day for Children," is Flag's Restaurant, in Belleville and Romulus.

The "Coffee Day" is sponsored by the Michigan Restaurant Association to help raise funds for Easter Seal societies throughout the state, so more services can be provided to both crippled children and adults.

All participating restaurants will serve free coffee on April 12 to anyone wearing the Brace-A-Child for a Buck-A-Cup" button.

The button will be sold by restaurants personnel to patrons until "Coffee Day."

Last year the 38 participating restaurants in the area raised $8,000 for the Wayne County Easter Seal Society.

PTA sponsors international bike tag sale

The Romulus Elementary School PTA is selling international bicycle safety triangles as part of its public service fund raising project.

The red and white triangles are used throughout the world to indicate slow moving vehicles and bike crossings and trails.

Made of high-impact, red fluorescent impregnated styrene, the tags make bikers more visible to motorists both day and night.

With the international symbol of the bicycle, the tag, is coated with the same grade of reflective material used to mark federal highway signs.

The tags, are available for $1 from any PTA member and at local banks and grocery stores.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for the benefit of students attending Romulus Elementary School.

Advanced orders may be made by calling Dianne Summerfield at 941-0454 or at 352-6755. A community-wide campaign is planned for the month.

Susan Sienko is now Mrs. Michael Parrish

Sanibel Island off the coast of Florida was the honeymoon destination for the newly wed Michael T. Parrishes who are now making their home in Plantation, Fla.

Susan L. Sienko of Plantation became Mrs. Parrish in a 7 p.m. ceremony March 16 at the First Baptist Church of Pompano Beach, Fla. During the double ring rite, Warner

Doles sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sienko of Belleville. Mrs. Haynes Gordon of Pompano Beach and the late Stanley Parrish are parents of the bridegroom.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, Susan appeared in a gown of white silk jersey fashioned in the empire mode with long sleeves, a keyhole neckline and chapel train. A jersey turban, traced with seed pearls, secured her shoulder-length illusion veil and a cascade bouquet of carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath completed her bridal ensemble.

The bride's sister, Mary Jane Sienko, traveled from Ann Arbor to be maid of honor. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Doles of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. was the only bridesmaid.

Their matching gowns in apple green silk jersey were complimented by matching head bows and bouquets of yellow carnations and baby roses.

Gary Parrish of Pompano Beach was his brother's best man and Kenneth Ray and Curt Pritchard, also of Pompano Beach, served as ushers.

MRS. SIENKO chose for her daughter's wedding a cream-colored formal gown with a lace bodice. Her green orchid corsage matched her shoes and handbag. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a floor-length pink ensemble with a corsage of white orchids pinned to her gown.

Some 60 relatives and friends attended the reception which followed at Williamson's in Ft. Lauderdale.

After graduating from Belleville High School in 1967, Susan attended Central Michigan University where she earned her B.S. degree in 1971. She is now employed by Kirsten, Friedman and Blackwell Law Firm of Ft. Lauderdale.

Her husband graduated from Florida State University in Tallahassee with a degree in hotel and restaurant management.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Gordon at Williamson's in Ft. Lauderdale.

MRS. JOHN E. GRASHAM

Debra K. Tedford, former Belleville resident, married

The First United Methodist Church in Fullerton, Calif. was the setting for the March 23 wedding of Debra K. Tedford and John E. Grasham who exchanged double ring vows at 3 p.m. Dr. John Zimmer of Fullerton and Dr. Burt Lewis of Placentia presided at the ceremony.

A former Belleville resident, the bride is the daughter of Mrs. James E. Reading of 1245 Valparaiso, Placentia, Calif. and the late Thirey Tedford of Belleville. Dr. and Mrs. John A. Grasham of 192 Esmyer, San Rafael, Calif. are parents of the bridegroom. The bride's step-father is president of the J.E. Visiting to fill pre-Easter days

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

Isabelle Taylor, of Plymouth.

Mrs. Leon J. Boldt of Roland Street accompanied her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cumberly and small daughter, Laura, of Ypsilanti, to Burlington on March 23. They attended the wedding of Louise Vanderburg and Edward Bryan, a nephew of Mrs. Boldt, at the Assembly of God Church at one o'clock and the reception which followed. The young couple plan to make their home in Burlington.

DINNER GUESTS on Saturday evening of last week at the Bedell Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton were long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Mann of Wayne.

MRS. MURIEL Smith of Liberty Street was a recent week-end guest of her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nanasy, of Perry.

MISS AIDINE Potter and Mrs. Muriel Smith of Liberty Street and Mrs. Henry Potter of W. Wabash Street were recent callers on the latter's daughter, Mrs. Richard LeMoyné of Livonia.

Energy saving hints for the homemaker

Perk up your home with sunshine and reduce your home heating costs at the same time.

Keep shades up and draperies open during the day, urge Michigan State University extension housing specialists, and take advantage of natural heat from the sun.

At night, however, you're further ahead by closing the drapes for added insulation. Make sure they fit tightly around windows when closed to prevent cool air from flowing in.

HELP YOUR heating system operate efficiently by ensuring proper air circulation, say extension housing specialists at Michigan State University.

By arranging furniture so it doesn't block radiators and supply registers, you allow warm air to circulate freely throughout the room. Clean radiators and registers periodically to make sure that dust doesn't accumulate to obstruct circulation.

Make energy the best buy in your kitchen, urge housing specialists at Michigan State University.

Keep refrigerator doors closed as much as possible. So when planning a meal, save energy and time by removing the items you need in one trip. Also, make sure the door gaskets have a good seal to prevent cold air from escaping.

CONSIDERING a new refrigerator or freezer? Housing specialists at Michigan State University, remind you that an automatic frost-free type can use over one and one-half times as much electricity to operate as the model you defrost yourself.

This added convenience may not be worth the increased utility bill.

Cut energy use and increase the cooling power of your freezer by defrosting it regularly, say extension housing specialists at Michigan State University.

Defrost it before the ice gets one-fourth inch thick. Ice that is thicker than that reduces the cooling power of the coil.

Don't buy a freezer too big for your needs, the specialists advise. Food retains the cold much better than just air, and energy used to cool empty space is wasted.

Woman has say on improvements

Any doubts as to who calls the shots when it comes to a remodeling project in the home are laid to rest by a recent study on the subject.

It is the woman who sets the project in motion, whether the project involves one room or the whole house. And it is the woman who exerts the greatest influence in selecting styles, textures and color schemes.

So says Norma Brown, design consultant for Masonite Corp., who points out that when it comes to choosing materials for the project, the woman prevails insofar as aesthetics are concerned while the husband concerns himself with the cost of materials and ease of application.

And in the area of wall paneling, today's decorator-conscious woman is choosing materials that feature the natural look, says Ms. Brown. She wants the texture, feel and look of the genuine article in wall, ceiling and floor treatment.

Evidence of the popularity of the natural look in wall treatments, according to Ms. Brown, is the success of the company's newest line of interior panels, the historic collection.

The prefinished hardboard panels in this collection are recreations of wall treatments of yesteryear.

The new panels, says Ms. Brown, not only satisfy the homemaker's desire for the "real look," but they also blend perfectly with various popular furniture styles.

TIEN AND NOW—Brownie Troop No. 634 of Hayti Elementary School in Romulus entertained their parents and fellow scouts at the March meeting of the Hayti PTA. Directed by Mrs. Sandra Cook, the troop undertook the task of preparing a history of their school and found it to be at least 90 years old. Floor plans of the old school and the present building were drawn up for

Varied activities keep nursery fun, informative

Life is full and interesting for youngsters attending the Huron Countryside Co-operative Nursery. Each month there are a multitude of activities and March has proven to be no exception. A special day is set aside each month to celebrate the children's birthdays that fall in that period. On March 8 Robbie Duke, Joey Wells and Stevie Greenwood enjoyed sharing their birthdays and bringing and giving a special treat to their little pals.

The nursery was visited March 18 by fireman Mike Sheets and Ron Spiewok of Dept. 3 in Huron Township. They gave a very interesting talk and demonstration of their fire truck and equipment.

On March 22 the Police Department was unable to attend the morning class as planned, but an officer did come into the afternoon class and the children enjoyed an informative talk and demonstration of his car and equipment.

April 1 was another eventful day for these youngsters as their class time was spent at the Romulus Public Library. The children were given a tour of the building and then enjoyed a story and special treat. For some, this was their first visit to a library and it was a very successful and eventful day for all who were able to attend.

An open house is being planned for the latter part of April at which time interested parents will be able to enroll their youngsters between the ages of 2½ and 5 years in the Nursery for the fall session. The date will be announced within the next couple of weeks.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM PARISES

Surprise party honors Parises

Her fiancé, a resident at Andrews University, earned his B.A. degree in theology at Oakwood College in 1973 and is now attending Andrews Theological Seminary at Berrien Springs. He is a minister in South Central Conference of Seventh Day Adventist.

The couple plan to be married June 9 at the Belleville Heights Seventh Day Adventist Church in Belleville.

A surprise party honoring the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Parises of 14018 Hannan Rd., Romulus, was given March 30 at Roma Hall in Livonia. Hosting the gala event were the couple's children, Sandra Franklin and her husband, Larry, of Romulus; Gary Parise and his wife, Vickie, of Ypsilanti; and Linda and Edward Parise, who are still at home.

Good friends of the honored pair, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Romulus, got the Parises to the hall on the pretext of a class reunion. Among those waiting to greet them were members of their bridal party (from April 2, 1949: Ray Tripp of Sarnia, Ont.; Mrs. Parise's uncle, Rosemary Head of Waterford; Bonnie Winters of Pontiac; Marilyn Carls of Detroit, Mrs. Parise's sister who was honor maid; Jim Parise of Keego Harbor, a brother who was best man; Don Broom of Auburn Heights; and Donald Chambers of Holly and William Spears of Sarnia, respectively. Each of the group was presented with silver-trimmed corsages or boutonnieres.

ALSO PRESENT was Joan Martinson of Pontiac who had sung at the wedding and who repeated her two solos, "Because" and "Always," for the pair.

Still others at the party were the couple's only grandchild, 2-year-old Nicole Franklin, who was dressed in a long blue frack for the occasion; Mrs. Parise's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Chambers, from Waterford; and long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. James Helman, who traveled 300 miles from Hillman. Other guests came from Davisburg, Holly, Dearborn, Detroit, Belleville and Romulus.

Recalling the rainbow theme of the 1949 wedding, the anniversary cake (a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mattson of Romulus) was decorated in pastel colors.

Married in Pontiac, the Parises are members of the First Presbyterian Church of Belleville. He is employed by the Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn and she in the cafeteria of Belleville High School.

To commemorate their quarter century of togetherness, the couple are planning a trip to Hawaii this spring.

In Romulus

Downs-Wood married in March ceremony

In a March 15 ceremony at the Community United Methodist Church of Romulus, Judith Ann Wood and John H. Downs exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands. The 7 p.m. nuptial rite was read by the Rev. Haldon Ferris before some 75 assembled relatives and friends.

Nancy Fuller was at the organ to play "A Time for Us," "Nights in White Satin" and "The Wedding March."

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie A. Wood of 13097 Hannan Rd., Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Downs Sr. of 23115

Merriman Rd., New Boston, are parents of the young couple.

ESCORTED TO the altar by her father, Judy was gowned in a crystalline satin creation designed in toe-touching length with a high round neckline and long sleeves accented with seed pearls.

Her elbow-length nylon net veil was caught to a petal-shaped crown trimmed with seed pearls. The white bridal Bible she held was topped with two deep red American Beauty roses and baby's breath.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Gregory K. Nelson of E. Lansing, donned a formal gown of rose pink chiffon and a pink velvet bow headpiece. The maid of honor, Ada Downs of New Boston, sister of the bridegroom, wore a mint green knit dress and matching bow.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Leroy Downs of Flat Rock, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Susan Stevens of Romulus; Anne Downs of New Boston, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Arthur M. Downs Jr. of New Boston, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Their identical frocks in pale blue were embellished with darker blue flowers and their hairbows were in matching color. All six attendants carried single long-stemmed pink roses.

A COUSIN of the bridegroom, Roy Miller of New Boston, was asked to be best man. Groomsmen were Fred Downs of New Boston and Arthur M. Downs Jr. and Leroy Downs of Flat Rock, all brothers of the bridegroom; Gregory K. Nelson of E. Lansing, brother-in-law of the bride; and Joe Downs, another of the bridegroom's brothers. Jimmy Mullins of Romulus and John Miller of New Boston took charge of seating guests.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Wood received in a turquoise brocade gown with silver accessories and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Downs in a rose pink crepe formal with rhinestone accents. Both were presented with corsages of white carnations tied with silver ribbon.

The wedding reception was held at the Waltz Fire Hall after which the newlyweds left for the Holiday Inn at Taylor.

The bride was a student at Romulus High School prior to her marriage. Her husband attended Huron Township Schools and is employed by Asplundh Tree Experts Inc. of Dearborn.

Brownies entertain with Hayti history

At the March meeting of the Hayti PTA, the school-sponsored scout troops entertained parents with readings of Hiawatha, dancing and by describing projects they had made.

Among the troops two programs were outstanding. The first was Sandra Cook's Brownie Troop No. 634, which did a reading on the history of Hayti school. This was very interesting because nothing has ever been written down about this school's background. It took three weeks of investigating every nook and cranny including the board of education for information. It was found out that Hayti school has been around for at least 90 years. These girls, ranging in age from 6 to 9, read the essay before the assembly presenting it with the ease of a politician.

The boys were not to be outdone, though, since Mrs. Marilyn Mazer's Den 2, Pack 830, did a puppet show of an Irish tale of two giants. The audience was so spellbound you could hear a pin drop.

A lot of time and energy went into every troop's presentation and the parents who attended realized how talented and smart the little ones are. The evening was enjoyed by all.

Beef stew makes hearty dinner dish

The tempting aroma of simmering beef stew means a warm welcome home and a wholesome dinner awaiting. Hearty beef dishes such as this are a happy change from the modern trend of convenience dinners.

The harmonious blend of flavors in this recipe is the result of careful formulation and slow cooking, says Reba Staggs, National Live Sotek & Meat Board home economist.

American art is topic of museum's lecture

The director of the Maryland Historical Society, P. William Filby, is the next speaker in the 22nd annual Henry Ford Museum antiques lecture series.

Filby's illustrated lecture will be presented in the Museum Theater at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

Contributing to this year's theme of "Americana Collections in the Major State Historical Societies," he will discuss the Maryland Historical Society collections.

This is the sixth in the series of seven talks on collections developed by the nation's earliest state historical societies.

FORMED ALONG the eastern seaboard over a century ago, these societies have built major specialized collections of the American decorative arts.

The Maryland Historical Society was founded in 1844. In addition to its fine collection of decorative arts, the society is known for its maritime collection, maps, prints, architectural drawings and manuscripts, including the original draft of the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Filby will review an exhibition of the Peale Family Portraits, which the Society has planned for this fall.

Before assuming his present position as director, Filby served as assistant director of the Maryland Historical Society and as assistant director of the Peabody Institute.

BORN IN England, he was an officer at Cambridge University, a captain in the British Intelligence Office during World War II and senior archivist at the British Foreign Office.

Filby is the author of several books on calligraphy, and is the honorary vice-president of the Society of Scribes and Illuminators in London.

Tickets for the evening lecture are $2 each and will be available at the Museum Theater box office, beginning one hour before the lecture.

The Henry Ford Museum Decorative Arts Galleries will be open, so that those attending may tour them before the lecture. Refreshments will be served in the galleries.

For additional information, call 271-1620, ext. 386.

Stickers available for 9 Metroparks

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan (Park) Authority (HCMA) is offering a windshield sticker-type Metropark annual motor vehicle permit costing $5 and Metropark daily motor vehicle permits costing $1. The permits will be required on all vehicles, beginning in May.

"The permit system is designed to accommodate area citizens who are frequent users of the Metroparks," said Eugene J. Ellison, chairman of the seven-member HCMA Board of Commissioners. "A great many persons, including senior citizens, have expressed the hope that the authority would offer a low cost annual sticker and this plan meets that need."

Vehicle charges will be in effect May through September at all nine Metroparks, serving the citizens of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties. The parks are Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropark near Utica, Marshband Metropark near Pontiac, Kensington Metropark near Milford, Hudson Mills, Dexter-Huron and Delhi Metroparks, each near Ann Arbor; Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville and Willow Metropark near New Boston.

THE ANNUAL Metropark permits are expected to go on sale this month at five park offices: Metropolitan Beach, Stony Creek Metropark, Kensington Metropark, Hudson Mills and Lower Huron Metropark. No stickers will be sold through the mail. The daily Metropark permits, as well as the annual permits, will be available at the parks in May.

Authority Director David O. Laidlaw said that since the proposed parking charges were announced last August, the authority's board and staff have continued to evaluate its plans and operational aspects concerning the charges.

"This plan is a refinement of our basic concept of establishing parking charges and is very close to the system used for state parks, so there should be a minimum of confusion by the public," Laidlaw said.

Public transportation, scheduled buses, bicyclists and walk-in visitors will be admitted free. Scheduled buses are those that have notified the park in advance of their visit, generally day camp, recreation and senior citizens groups.

WHILE THE state's Department of Natural Resources state parks and recreation areas have had an annual and daily user fee for several years, this is the first general fee assessment to Metropark users with the exception of Metropolitan Beach.

Metropolitan Beach, with its wide variety of recreational facilities and special event programs, has had a 50-cent parking fee throughout its 23 years of operation.

School repays money

A bank loan of $1,850,000, used to cover operational expenses between Aug. 15 and April 1, has been paid off by the Van Buren Public School District.

The loan, which had been approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, was repaid to the National Bank of Detroit.

The interest paid on the loan amounted to $58,649.

The money was used to meet operational costs until sufficient tax money was received to offset expenses.

The school district has had to borrow money each year, either by tax anticipation notes or advancements on state aid, to meet its expenses a school official said.

Workers celebrate birthday

"Happy birthday to our president."

That's the greeting the employees of Kerr Manufacturing in Romulus offered to Russell E. Nelson.

The employees last week planned a surprise for "expressing the love and loyalty the workers at Kerr Manufacturing feel for their president."

In conjunction with the surprise, employee Charles Saponaro composed a special poem entitled "Happy Birthday to Our President."

In part, the poem reads: "He's seen this company through good times and through bad. A man like you we're proud to have. He has the ability and knowledge, this is true. Happy Birthday, Mr. Nelson, we all respect you."

Sales to help drive

Senior citizens groups and civic organizations will join local antique and crafts dealers in displaying their wares in a day-long sale at New Boston Huron High School Saturday.

Labeled a combination antique-white elephant-arts and crafts sale, the affair is sponsored by the high school's Student Council with proceeds to be used to defray the cost of paving the student parking lot.

The sale runs from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the gymnasium. It will feature merchandise booths of senior citizens, hobbyists, civic groups, individuals and dealers. A donation of 25 per cent of the proceeds from each booth will go toward the improvement fund.

Student performs with tour

A Romulus High School student has been accepted for membership in the United States Collegiate Wind Band, which will tour seven European capitals during July and August.

Membership in the group is limited to 95 college wind players and mature senior high school band students.

The band will be visiting England, Belgium, Germany, the Netherlands, Switzerland and Austria during its mid-summer musical tour.

Veterans make use of funds

The acting director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Detroit, Frank Kilcullen, said that 50,150 Michigan veterans and servicemen took some form of GI Bill training during the last semester. Kilcullen said 29,729 of these were taking training at the college level. An additional 16,203 were training at below-college levels, and 4,218 were engaged in on-the-job training programs. In Michigan 113,965 Vietnam veterans have completed their training with GI Bill benefits. Under present statutes, single veterans draw $220 per month while engaged in training. Married veterans receive an additional amount for dependents.

Interview to survey residents

Questions on expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties will be asked of a sample of households in the area by Bureau of the Census interviewers during the first two weeks of April. The survey is taken four times each year to provide information valuable to the federal government and to many groups-public and private-in every segment of the American economy. The sample of local households are among the approximate 6,000 throughout the United States that will be asked about alterations, repairs, and additions to their homes.

Information given to the bureau is held in strictest confidence by law. The reports published are in terms of totals only. No information that would identify any individual is ever released by the bureau.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER
HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS
Did you ever wonder where, how and when the strange custom of April Fool's Day began? Here's the story...
It did not originate in our land. The tradition dates back for more than 400 years. It began in France after the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1564. Prior to then, the New Year celebration began March 21 and ended on April 1. Some people continued to celebrate New Years on April 1 instead of January 1 after the adoption of the new calendar in 1564. Those people, in the language of those days, became known as April fools. From France, the custom spread to England and became a popular jokester day in the 1600's....
To relieve the tension in the turmoil of our times, occasional hours for good, clean, harmless fun and laughter is helpful. The thought reminds us of what Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote: "Laugh and the world laughs with you, Weep and you weep alone. For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth, But has trouble enough of its own!"

CANDY SALE — To earn their way to the school camp in June, sixth grade students at Edgemont Elementary School are taking turns selling candy in the lunchroom. The students, serving their turn, are (from left) John Parker and James Abraham. They are selling candy to first grader Colleen Mendel and second grader David Weinman.

Sales to finance camp excursion

Doorbells will be ringing throughout Belleville this month as a group of students take their wares door-to-door to raise money for a camping trip.

The youngsters, students at Edgemont Elementary School, are putting on their best salesmanship manner in hopes of collecting enough funds to sponsor their excursion.

The youngsters' goodies range from seeds and candy in banks to kitchen gadgets.

THE MONEY-making project is in conjunction with other fund raising activities, which include bake and hot pretzel sales and a family roller skating party this month with a car wash and spring cleanup slated for May.

Each student is charged with earning the necessary money he or she will need to attend Camp DeSales in June. The private camp is located in Irish Hills near Brooklyn.

Although it's an individual effort, the youngsters are encouraged to help their fellow classmates reach the camp cost goal.

The camping program for sixth graders is a first for students at Edgemont. The aim of the program is to give each student a learning experience from the resources available in the outdoors.

INCLUDED in the program are instruction in weather, forestry, ecology, nature interpretation, earth science, physical fitness, animal life and creative writing.

The teachers involved in the camping trip are Stella Bialas, Jon Hale, James Lightfoot and Gerald Cook. Also taking part in the program is the school's principal, Samuel LoPresto.

Motorist faces arrest in school bus violation

An arrest warrant, charging a woman motorist with failing to stop for a school bus while unloading, has been recommended by Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Louis Gutter.

The warrant accuses Juanita Anderson of 728 S. Main St., Ann Arbor, with failing to stop for a Van Buren Public School District bus, which was unloading students from the Elwell Road Elementary School on Sumpter Road March 25. Miss Anderson is the registered owner of the car.

The traffic violation was observed by Thomas McLendon, principal of Sumpter Elementary School who filed the complaint with deputies of the road patrol division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

BOTH STATE law and local ordinances require motorists to stop in front and rear of a stopped school bus when taking on or unloading students.

McLendon told police that he had stopped his car behind the school bus when a car, driven by a woman, drove past the stopped school bus and kept on going.

Michigan Bell begins directory distribution

Michigan Bell will begin distribution of its 1974 west-northwest area telephone directories tomorrow.

Eugene Greek, local Michigan Bell manager, said distributors will drop off one new directory at each household.

"Because there is a critical paper shortage, we are asking distributors to leave only one telephone directory with each Michigan Bell residential customer," he said.

A similar policy is being applied to business customers who are receiving one directory for each two phones, Greek said.

However, if a resident or business customer needs additional books, the distributor will supply them.

The paper shortage has caused the telephone company to eliminate publication of the separate suburban white pages directories this year.

"Customers who have copies of the suburban white pages - the east, north and west-and-downriver area white pages - are requested to keep their copies for reference until April, 1975 when the next issue will be published, Greek said.

Delivery will take 10 days to complete.

Bills tackle cemetery vandalism, college aid

By EDUARDE MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

The Michigan Legislature has approved several bills which will counteract cemetery vandalism with stiffer punishment and provide state aid to private colleges and universities.

Vandalism in cemeteries has become a serious and costly problem in many parts of the state, particularly in rural areas where cemeteries are not supervised closely. Under present law, such destruction is a misdemeanor. It was felt that tougher penalties might deter potential vandals.

The House bill provides that a person other than the burial site owner or person in charge of the cemetery who intentionally destroys, mutilates, or removes any gravestone or other structure, including plants, in a cemetery is guilty of a misdemeanor. However, if such damage amounts to more than $100 or involves two or more separate gravesites, the person would be guilty of a felony, punishable by a fine of up to $2,500 and imprisonment for up to five years or both.

PROVIDING THAT damage over $100 would be considered a felony would be consistent with present law dealing with the malicious destruction of property.

Gravestones and other monuments are very expensive and if destroyed by vandals, their replacement can be a financial burden to many families. There is no guarantee that the new monument will not be destroyed. If a person realized that he could be convicted of a felony for this form of vandalism, subject to heavy fine or imprisonment, he may think twice before destroying the property.

The bill is under consideration in the Senate.

The Senate has approved overwhelmingly a House-passed bill to allow the awarding of grants to private colleges and universities for degrees conferred upon state students.

AS PROVIDED under the bill, payments to these institutions would be $200 for each earned associate degree and $400 for each earned bachelor or master degree. However, in cases in which a school received a payment for an associate degree, it could receive only $200 for a bachelor degree conferred upon the same student.

The bill further provides that an institution could not receive a total payment in grants which is more than 15 percent of its educational and general expenditures.

There are many outstanding private colleges and universities in Michigan. They provide a valuable contribution to the state's educational system. Among other things, they help to take enrollment pressures off of state-supported institutions. Payments to the private schools would help to ensure that they maintain the quality of educational programs, giving students in Michigan a diversity of programs in public and non-public colleges and universities. THE BILL CONTAINS a provision that no payments will be made for degrees in theology or divinity.

God takes back seat

Meaning is lost amid modern life

The pastor of the Missionary Church of Belleville, The Rev. David A. Brown, surveys the origin of the Lenten season and how modern man can recapture some of its true meaning.

Lent for most of us is no more than a ritual which is spoken of in papers, proclaimed by religion, and printed in church bulletins. It comes year after year, causing a change of colors and a different order of worship, but never seems to change any lives permanently. We do what we want and give God the back seat to our lives because we have forgotten Jesus Christ, the main reason for Lent in the beginning.

Lent, coming from the saxon word for spring, traditionally spans the 40 days before Easter and is a season of penitence (regret for one's wrong doing), fasting (abstaining from food), and sacrifice (giving up something for a belief or end).

OUR BELOVED nation is an example of enforced Lent. The courts are causing public officials to regret wrong doing. Inflation is short-changing the average worker of groceries. And factory jobs are being sacrificed to meet supply and demand.

Yet, there seems to be little public evidence of sorrow for social sin. Few fast because of a spiritual objective. And few have a cause great enough to sacrifice anything for it. Our nation shows us that doing things normally expected of us at Lent need not be motivated by a holy zeal, nor will it necessarily lead to living Christ's life, which is the main reason for Lent.

We have Lent because of Christ, who "loved us and gave Himself for us." Being the sinless son of God, Jesus paid for our sins on the cross. Christ's fasts were accompanied by prayer and resulted in the power for ministry. His sacrifice was not in ice cream or some pleasure. He gave over to God his very self-will when he prayed, "Not my will, but Thine be done!"

The Christian believers of the first century didn't know what Lent, as we know it, was. But they knew what fasting and sacrifice meant as the Apostle Paul relates: "In weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness. Beside those things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care of all the churches."

FOR THE early church, faith in Christ came first, then fasting and sacrifices were made because of their faith. Too many religious people have this reversed. They attempt to earn God's favour by keeping Lent in every respect.

Others, a majority, see through this vain attempt and don't even try to keep Lent. Both types of people need to have a personal encounter with the resurrected living Jesus. Only then will fasting and sacrifice be of any practical help to their lives.

The Apostle Paul writes: "A man who works is paid; his wages are not regarded as a gift but as something that he has earned. As for the man who does not work, however, but simply puts his faith in God, who declares the guilty to be innocent, it is his faith that God takes into account in order to put him right with himself."

Penitence, or sorrow for sin, is where we must begin, if the Lenten season will ever change our lives. It requires far more than "finding a few quiet moments each day to search out the sacred in the middle of ordinary everyday things."

TRUE SORROW for sin will cause us to ask God for forgiveness of all sin. We will give our wills to Jesus Christ and turn everything completely over to Him. Only then will God accept us and our lives will have the answer to the search for satisfaction. We will have Christ.

If you remember Lent this spring, remember Christ Jesus and what He did for you on the cross. Then do more than that. Accept Jesus into your heart and life. Only Jesus can really change "life's monotony."

Success story: Our All-Area cagers

One can't argue with success and success came to Livonia Franklin easy this season thanks to all-starter Kevin Kaseta who shattered almost every Franklin basketball record in the books.

And "success" describes the 1974 All-Area cagers who are among the best in the state.

Scoring a total of 1,009 points in the last two years - 545 this season for a 22.7 average, Kevin, a 6-foot-8, 185-pound senior, teams with another all-starter, Romulus' Johnny Long, Cherry Hill's Bob Fowler, Wayne Memorial's Glenn Ambrose and John Glenn's Jim Kholmman to form the Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' 1974 All-Area high school first team.

"Kevin is an outstanding team man," said Franklin Coach Bob Visser whose Patriots won the "triple crown" - Northwest Suburban, district and regional basketball title before being ousted in the quarter finals by the reigning Class A champ, Birmingham Brother Rice.

"He's really unselfish and his statistics could have been even more impressive if he wanted them to be," continued the Franklin coach. "but he realizes that it takes five men on the court, not just one."

"And he's also a compete player...he can drive as good or better than any other big man around and handles the ball. He also outlets the ball faster than anybody I've ever seen."

COLLEGE SCOUTS who have looked over the lanky senior also agree that Kaseta is one of the legitimate blue chippers in the state this season. He has received letters from scores of Kaseta, who hauled down 361 rebounds for a 15 per game average, also had a 55 percent shooting average from the field and 74 percent from the free throw line. He holds the school records for most points in a game (40, against Farmington), season and career and most rebounds in a game, season and career.

Kevin studies as well as he plays basketball. He's sporting a 3.93 academic average. LONG ENDED a brilliant cage career at Romulus High School.

Doing almost everything on the court effortlessly, Long was outstanding in clutch situations and under pressure. He is the first Romulus cager in nearly a decade to make all-state teams in both junior and senior years. And there are good reasons. Long scored 1,600 points in his three years, leading the Eagles to three consecutive district titles.

He sank a career high 46 points in the second round of the Class A district tournament against Taylor Kennedy.

Sports Meridian Wrestling reforms ahead?

By TOM MOORADIAN

It must be the nature of the sport, but one thing for sure is no one can accuse our area high school wrestling coaches of being modest.

Or, maybe it was in retaliation of what they read in this column, namely, that I branded their sport - "minor."

Of course, we all know that there is no such thing as a "minor" sport.

"Wrestling has done more in this area, has produced more state champs than any other sport," announced Jim Stallings, as he settled down to debate the All-Area team issues. "What other sport in the area has produced a state champ or finished as high in the state as our wrestling teams."

THE CONGREGATION that gathered - Don Haney (Wayne Memorial), Dean Shipman (Garden City West), Tom Tucker (Livonia Franklin) and Craig Linderman (Cherry Hill) nodded in agreement.

"When we compare what the area teams have accomplished statewide to that of the other sports, there really is no comparison at all," continued Stallings. "Therefore, we should get a bigger slice of the pie."

The pie, of course, meaning newspaper coverage.

That, again, is a debatable issue - which we will let others argue.

Another thing the Romulus coach said made sense, too. He and his cohorts are fighting the Michigan High School Athletic Association for "equal size trophies" as awards to the district, regional and state champs.

"As it stands now," related Stallings, "basketball gets a different size trophy, while wrestling and swimming another size which, in my opinion, is unfair."

"It's time that that injustice is abolished," he declared.

STALLINGS has been active on the state level in bringing about the reforms. He was responsible for compiling the high school wrestling polls which appeared here and in other newspapers throughout the season.

A veteran of five wrestling campaigns, Stallings took over at Romulus, when the high school was rebuilding its wrestling program.

RH begins action with three teams

The newly-formed Romulus Hockey Association (RHA) will field three teams in two spring leagues at Westland's Sportsland Arena.

Two of the teams are in the mite (age 4-8) division - Daily Restaurant and Romulus Recreation. Gene Seese's Shell Service is sponsoring a squirt (age 9-10) division team.

RHA officials request that Romulus boys interested in playing fall hockey within the association contact David Bellenir, 941-7396; Ben Dawson, 941-3796; or Dick McLeod, 942-9490.

Franklin's Visser top cage coach of year

Bob Visser expected little more than a "good" season from his Livonia Franklin High cagers in 1973-74, and probably would have just snickered back in October had someone predicted the Patriots would come within three victories of the state Class A championship.

"We had so many holes to fill before the season and really didn't know who our starters would be besides Kevin Kaseta and Jamie Knapp," recalled the 41-year-old Visser, The Daily Eagle's Basketball Coach of the Year.

"I thought we would have a good team, but there were a lot of question marks," he said. Kaseta and Knapp were the senior mainstays and co-captains, and not until the season got well underway did it become clear that names like Keith Blazaitis, Matt Demars, Ken Fry and Tim Newman were fitting well into the Franklin picture, along with strong substitutes Jim Baigrie and Dan Christner.

WHAT IT ALL led to was a 22-4 season, a Northwest Suburban League championship and district and regional titles in state tournament play.

And for Visser, the successful season brought his six-year reign as Franklin's cage coach to a peak. This is the first time he has won Coach of the Year honors in basketball, but has garnered the award numerous times as Franklin's golf coach, too.

Visser has taught foreign language and physical education at Franklin since the school's opening in 1962.

4 of 5 help win titles

Champs are honored

Four of the five players honored on The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' All-Area second team were instrumental in leading their respective teams to league championships.

Don Braun, the rugged 215-pound, Livonia Churchill 6-7 center, and teammate Ken Landini, a 6½, 165-guard, helped the Chargers post a perfect 10-0 record in winning the Western Six Conference title, while speedy, elusive Inkster guard Rowan Childs, and "dead-eye" forward Bill Tomlinson formed the nucleus of Inkster's title team in the tough Suburban Athletic Conference.

Rounding out the All-Area team is Brian Kaluzny, who kept Westland John Glenn in the thick of the Northwest Suburban Conference title race. Glenn finished second to once-defeated Livonia Franklin.

KALUZNY was injured in the final league game (against North Farmington) which jeopardized the Rockets' bid for a district title. However, throughout the campaign he infiltrated the opposition's defensive network and scored 333 points, an average of 15.1

per game. His 60.2 field goal accuracy stands as a new Glenn high.

Brian also managed to haul down 226 rebounds (10.2 pg.) against players often taller. "Brian was our inside game," said Glenn Coach Gordie Davis, "although he often gave away size in the middle, he more than held his own on the boards. His inside scoring was his biggest asset."

BRAUN also has an impressive stats. He accounted for 372 rebounds (16.9 pg.) and 347 points (15.8 average) this (Continued on Page B-3)

26 swimmers honored

East places 1st girl on All-Area

KAY McDONALD

DALE SWEZENE

The sex barrier is broken. For the first time in the history of All-Area selections, a girl has been named to one of the teams. She's pretty Kay McDonald, a 16-year-old Garden City East High swimmer.

And she didn't make the team just for her looks.

"I wish I had a girl on my team like that," said Jerry Pawloski, Cherry Hill coach, "she's one of the most versatile swimmers in the area."

MISS McDONALD helped the Panthers capture the Western Wayne Invitational Swim Meet this year and also was a key point-getter throughout the season, specializing in the individual medley and the breaststroke.

Eighteen other swimmers plus four relay teams are also being honored by The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers for their efforts during the recently concluded campaign.

The bulk of the All-Area swim team is made up of Garden City East swimmers who are represented in the 200-yard medley relay with Chuck Cooper, Mark Blanchard, Ed Ruppell and Frank Fitus.

East is also represented by Dale Swezene, who won both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle titles in the Northwest Suburban Conference, setting records in both events, as well as the 50-yard freestyle in the WW Meet.

DALE'S twin brother, Dave, also is a member of this year's team, making appearances in 50-yard freestyle and the freestyle relay. Also in that relay is brother, Dale, Frank Fitus and Mark Cooper who recorded the best time in the area (3:30.2) and the league.

Other East notables are Cooper, an 18-year-old senior and Mark Blanchard, a 16-year-old junior, who also is a top-notch breaststroker and individual medley man.

Blanchard, who posted a 1:08 to win the gold medal in the breaststroke at the WW meet, placed second in the league meet. He should have little difficulty muscling his way to the top of the area and league rankings next year.

WESTLAND John Glenn had a record season this year as Coach Al Wachtel's swimmers won 15 out of their 16 dual meets. Two persons who helped to provide the winning margin were Tom Bird, a 16-year-old junior who won the 200-yard freestyle WW title, and senior Roger McCreery, an excellent freestyle.

McCreery and Bird team with Steve Pengrassi and Tom's brother, Joe Bird, as one of the two 400-yard freestyle relay selections.

WAYNE'S contributions to this year's honor roll are senior diver Lance Webber, a repeat from last year, and Mike O'Brien.

Webber, 18, has been swimming and diving since the eighth grade and was the only diving champ the old Mid-Wayne Conference had. He also became the first Great Lakes 8 titlist this year.

An excellent student who holds the school diving record at 267.70, Lance will attend Brigham Young University in the fall.

O'Brien is a backstroke specialist who also began competition in the eighth grade. The 17-year-old junior has another year of prep competition ahead of him.

BELLEVILLE, which competes in the tough Suburban 8 Conference where two-time Class A champ, Dearborn, has dominated the league, offers its medley relay of "Tinker" Bell, Pike Walker, Dennis Harkness and Mark Fogarty to this year's team.

The foursome had the area's best time (1:47.2) this season.

Harkness also is the area's top butterfly. He's been clocked in 58.1. A 17-year-old junior, he won the WW title in the 100-yard backstroke.

Walker finished second in the league in the 100-yard breaststroke and ended up 14th in the state.

THE TIGERS' 15-year-old sophomore, Farley Parsons and junior diver, Arlo Liebler, will also be around next year to help Vicchy's contingent. Parsons was named as one of the three breaststroke specialists while Liebler teams with Webber and Cherry Hill's Walt Bresnahan on the diving boards.

Liebler's stunning victory at the Western Wayne, (he set a record 439.85 points) established him as one of the divers to watch in the area. He also finished fourth in the tough Wayne State University meet. Arlo finished third in the league and seventh in the state.

Franklin has three excellent swimmers on this year's coveted team. They are Brad Kenny, Dave Balnaves and Dave Adams. Kenny not only holds the best time in the area for the 500-yard freestyle (5:10.9), but he also won the gold medal in that event at the Northwest Suburban Meet and the WW Invitational.

BALNAVES has the distinction of being the top 200-yard individual medley man in the Northwest Suburban, while Adams' 1:00.2 for the 100-yard butterfly earned for him a berth on this year's all-star team.

Cherry Hill and Livonia Churchill each contribute one swimmer apiece.

Bresnahan, who holds the Tri-River Conference diving record and title in diving is the Spartans' delegate. Dove won the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard freestyle WW crowns is considered an excellent college prospect.

Coach of the Year

Sports Meridian

By TOM MOORADIAN

Romulus has emerged as one of the top wrestling powers in the state and has produced a two-time state champ, Brad Smith, during Stallings' coaching tenure.

On the other side of the spectrum, Craig Linderman launched his wrestling career as a coach, initiating Cherry Hill's program.

What type of problems did he have?

"A lot of kids didn't come out for the team because of this 'hair thing'," said the Spartan coach. "They knew they would have to cut it, so they kept away."

"However, I feel we got off the ground with our program and we're going to be all right next year," he said.

Hair, huh.

Heck, there were 24 wrestlers in here yesterday — all members of the 1974 All-Area wrestling team. And they looked in real good shape.

You'll get a chance to see these athletes in tomorrow's edition.

John McIntyre has won more than his share of league, district and regional basketball championships.

And the 40-year-old Dearborn Fordson cage coach also played on a Class A state basketball championship team when he prepped at Fordson back in 1953.

In fact, much of McIntyre's life has either been spent playing or coaching basketball, so when he talks basketball people listen.

He, and what he feels is a "silent majority of suburban coaches," doesn't like the inequities which have been created by a double standard. On the one hand the state permits boys' schools such as Birmingham Brother Rice, Detroit Catholic Central and the Detroit Public School leagues to "recruit" athletes from out of their respective school districts, whereas, most suburban public high schools are prohibited from such practices.

"Don't get me wrong," said McIntyre, "I don't want to start a recruiting war. What I'm saying is that the state has let some of its rules get out of hand which is causing some hard feelings among coaches."

MC INTYRE POINTED out that in the past if an athlete moved from one school district to another he was ineligible for six months. However, now a student can obtain a waiver from the principal and become eligible immediately.

Also, some students have been able to obtain immediate eligibility by arguing that the school he intends to attend offers subjects that the old one didn't.

"It is very easy to get around the eligibility rules nowadays," continued McIntyre, "and there are many cases where good athletes have been lured to other schools by coaches and I feel, and so do some of the people with whom I've talked, that the time has come to establish rules that both groups can live by."

THE VETERAN COACH stressed that "the city (Detroit) teams and Catholic league basketball teams are excellent. And I'm not being facetious when I say the coaches also are excellent. However, what has made them the better teams, I feel, is that they have been able to go out and get the athletes."

"And, believe me, if I was in their shoes, I would do the same thing."

McIntyre added that he didn't know what the answer was or didn't have a solution, but a line should be drawn.

"Maybe there should be a reclassification—an 'AA' league where all teams and schools which can admit students from anywhere will assemble. But, something should be done, and there are enough coaches, in my opinion, who agree that the double standard must go."

IF SOMETHING isn't done, or a solution found, McIntyre visions a "bleak future" for suburban teams.

"It's going to be a rare occasion when a Catholic team or a Detroit team doesn't reach the state finals," McIntyre insists. "They are the best ball clubs because of these loopholes."

McIntyre also sees a need for reclassification because the "open schools" enrollment "really doesn't mean anything because they have a select kind of boy."

"What is happening is that some kids who are established players move into the Catholic leagues without losing their eligibility. Some sort of penalty must be handed down to stop that practice."

If this isn't a declaration of war, it's close to it.

We're happy to see that Spring finally won its identity battle with ole man winter and hopefully it's going to stick around for a couple of months.

How else can the Spring prep season begin?

Westland John Glenn swimming Coach Al Wachtel contends that his 1973-74 Rocket squad churned to its second-place finish in the Northwest Suburban Conference mainly on "guts."

"We didn't have a whole lot of talent, but the kids really had guts," said the second-year Glenn mentor, who turned around a 6-10 squad from 1972-73 and made it a contender. And for his success, the 27-year-old Wachtel has earned The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers Swimming Coach of the Year honors.

John Glenn recorded a dazzling 15-1 dual meet record this season, good enough for a second-place tie in the league with Garden City East. North Farmington won the championship.

"THE BULK of this year's team was here last year but it takes a little while to put things together," said

Wachtel. "They went through the aggravation of a losing season last year and paid their dues."

"They turned it around this season, though. I think this year's Glenn team would beat last year's by about 30 points."

"Our 15-1 record sums up the kind of kids we have. Seven of our meets went down to the last relay and we were victorious six times—that says it all," he said.

"It's a tribute to the amount of work they put in all season long. We base our program on conditioning. We didn't have a lot of talent but the kids really had guts."

WACHTEL, A 1969 graduate of Kent State University, where he swam under Coach Frank Vicchy, brother of Belleville High swim Coach Sam Vicchy, also lauded the efforts of Glenn diving coach Dave Downs. "I attribute many wins to him," Wachtel said. Downs was a teammate of Wachtel's at Kent State and joined the latter when he came to John Glenn in 1972.

Wachtel, who teaches English at Glenn along with his coaching duties, had yet another person to thank for the team's success.

"My wife," he said. "And I hope you put this in. She had to put up with a lot of long hours while we were away at meets."

ROCKETS PRAISE—Hard work paid off for Westland John Glenn swimmers who amassed a 15-1 won-lost record. And four swimmers who helped the Rockets to their record season are Steve Pengrassi (from

All-Area boasts team cage leaders

"He came out of nowhere to do a fantastic job for us." Those are the words Livonia Franklin Coach Bob Visser used to describe 6-8 senior pivotman Keith Blazaitis who played a key role in the Patriots 22-4 won-lost season. Blazaitis, who was nearly cut from the team in his junior year, was named the Pats' most improved player this season. He teams with four "team leaders" - James Hall

(Romulus), Mel Abraham (Belleville), Ken Kinsvater (Garden City West) and Monte Dennard (Robichaud) in making up The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' All-Area third team. Blazaitis had 262 points on the season for a 10 point average and also snared 315 rebounds (12.1 pg.), and, equally impressive, he swatted away 77 shots. "KEITH is a terror on defense as evidenced by his 77 blocked shots," said Visser. "a lot of teams don't want to drive on him and have to resort to shooting from outside." Needless to say, as almost as all other players picked to this year's teams, Keith also had had several college offers and definitely has a future in college basketball. "Kinsvater scored 291 points for a 13.8 average in a 14-7 West won-lost season. He hit 45 percent from the field and had 152 rebounds.

Do well on any college team that picks them up." Despite a dismal over-all season, Robichaud had an outstanding all-around effort from Dennard who carried much of the scoring burden on his shoulders. Dennard finished with an 18.9 scoring average, but, again, the stats don't tell the real story. He was "Mr. Everything" for Coach Francis McCauley's team. Abraham, a junior, is an astute ball handler with a fine touch from the field. The 16-year-old, 5-11 guard piled up a 16.95 scoring average and was the key figure in Belleville's upset of Plymouth, the lone loss suffered by the Suburban 8 Conference champ. "I consider Mel as one of the outstanding guards in the area," said Belleville Coach Tom Niemi, "he's a fine all-around player and an excellent team leader."

BEST FREESTYLE QUARTET — With twins Dale and Dave Sweeney joined by Mark Cooper (at left) and Frank Fitus (at right), Garden City East contributes the top 400-yard freestyle relay to this year's All-Area team. The foursome has been clocked in 3:30.2, the best showing in the area and the Northwest Suburban Conference this season.

Most baseball teams, track squads are scheduled to begin the 1974 campaign with Garden City West getting a jump on the rest of the area pack with a game at home against Westland John Glenn. And, without the cooperation of the weatherman, it's unlikely that the season will begin.

However, that's putting the traditional cart before the horses.

THERE HAVE been quite a few coaching changes in the area, so we better get down to them before heading into the season. Kam White, a veteran of a couple of coaching decades at Inkster High School has come out of retirement to handle the Viking track team.

White, who went to the sidelines after an illness three years ago, is back in harness, replacing Gary Powers, (no, not the U-2 pilot) who resigned after serving in the capacity of head coach for only one year.

AND, OUR DEAN of the area track coaches, Bernie Ingle, has bowed out of the coaching scene. He's being replaced as Robichaud's head track coach by Leit Jones, an all-around athlete who starred at almost everything at Wayne State University.

As the schedules come in, (and, dear athletic director if you haven't mailed in yours, please do) two notable shifts have occurred on the baseball circuit.

Mitch Zaleski, a former teammate of Bernie Carbo at Livonia Franklin, has been named to succeed Jack Clark as the head baseball coach at Crestwood High.

Zaleski, who also played the outfield during the late sixties at Wayne State University, has the tough task of getting that Dearborn Heights high school ready for the Tri-River campaign. He doesn't have a gym to practice in because water seepage has uprooted the gym floor.

"WE'RE SHARING a room with the track and tennis people," said Zaleski who was wondering out loud how tough the Tri-River Conference will be this year.

I gave him Bob Dropp's (Garden City West coach) telephone number. Most of the coaches pick him to win it all this year. (How's that for putting a friend on the spot?)

ANNAPOLIS also has a new baseball coach. He's David Simowski, a former All-City (Detroit) football player from St. Ambrose.

Simowski takes over from Michael Bird who stepped off the diamond to handle the cage strategy for the Cougars.

Success

(Continued from Page B-1) to break into the elite first team lineup. For the season straight year he led Cherry Hill and the Tri-River League in scoring and rebounding, amassing 459 points (22 ppg.) and 330 rebounds. He has 1,050 career points.

"Bob has just got tremendous offensive potential," said Coach Dick McNally, and he has enough talent going for him that opponents can't gear a defense to stop him.

AMBROSE led Wayne to the runnerup berth in the inaugural Great Lakes 8 Conference cage campaign. He finished with a total of 349 points, averaging 17 points per game.

"Despite an injured ankle," said Wayne Coach Bill Hawley, "Glenn made our team go. And, without him we were in trouble. He was one of two players selected as the MVP in the league and he is an excellent play-maker and ball handler."

KHOLMAN is a tremendous play maker who excels in defense. He set a school record in assists, counting 135 of them this season for a 6.1 average. He also holds the school record for steals at 76.

Jim shot at a 15.9 ppg. clip in scoring 349 points for the season. From the field he had a 46.1 accuracy from the field and 73 percent at the foul line. "Jim has great ability to both penetrate and shoot from the outside and also was our top defensive player,"

GC gals break state swim mark

Cindy Brown, Vicki Brown and Lori Loomis added another record to their long list of swimming accomplishments.

The girls swim for the Garden City Parks and Recreation Department and are coached by Jewel Cooke. CINDY BROWN made the finals in five events as she broke the Michigan record for the 100 yard breaststroke with her time of 1:11.86 and was less than half second from breaking the record in her 200 yard breaststroke time of 2:35.77. She also made finals in the 100 yard butterfly (1:02.39), 200 yard fly (2:21.14) and the 200 yard individual medley 2:19.82.

season. He made 151 of 308 shots from the field for a 49 percent average.

"Braun was our only returnee this season," said Churchill Coach Pat Montagano, "and he was our mainstay. He works hard and never complains and is easily coached. He does all that is asked of him and never asks why, which is a rarity among today's youth. He's one of the area's true blue-chippers."

LANDINI amassed 342 season points for a 17.1 average and he made 151 shots (of 311) from the field for a 49 percent accuracy.

An excellent floor general, Ken also is an excellent student.

"Ken is a pure-shooter," related Montagano, "I'd have to say he is the finest outside shooter this area's had in the last couple of years. He's a great leaper, too and he's going to make some college one heck of a guard."

Tomlinson was deadly with his jump shots which forced the defense to come out and get him. And that opened up the path for diminutive Childs (5-8) whose quick moves caught many rivals flat-footed.

Both finished the season with a 19.8 scoring average. "Ro(Childs) was our play-maker," said Inkster Coach George Thompson, "he made our team click. He also had nine assists a game to show you how unselfish he was."

TOMLINSON is in a class with former Inkster great, Eartha Faust when it came to the jump shot.

"His contribution to the team," said Thompson of Tomlinson, "made us a contender. We had to use him in various positions, both at guard and forward and he hustled all the time."

IN MEMORIAM—Anette Welsh (right), state chairman for the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary, presents Diane Hazen, librarian of the Romulus library, with a plaque honoring the late Virginia Carmichael. Mrs. Carmichael was known throughout the Romulus-Belleville area for her service work in both communities. Her husband, Hyle J. Carmichael, former mayor of Romulus, looks on as the plaque is presented to Mrs. Hazen. Mrs. Carmichael died suddenly last November. — Enterprise-Roman photo

Why the celebration?

Palms represent courage

This Sunday will mark the day in which Christ was showered with palms during his journey into Jerusalem. The Rev. Wilson F. Wood of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church explores the reasons behind the Palm Sunday celebration.

This coming weekend Christians will be observing Palm Sunday. On Palm Sunday, each year, they remember how Jesus Christ rode into Jerusalem on a donkey while people scattered palm branches along the way ahead of him.

According to a well known prophesy from an earlier time, Zion's king was expected to arrive in this way. Riding on a donkey as opposed to a horse or a chariot would identify the king as one who was coming in peace.

READING THE accounts of that event will make Palm Sunday seem like a day when a city came out to give a hero's welcome to a great person. In a way it resembles today's ticker tape parade, but instead of ticker tape, there were palm branches.

Before a week had gone by after Palm Sunday the city had arrested Jesus Christ, tried him, found him guilty and executed him as a criminal.

When you think about this you may find yourself wondering whether Palm Sunday wasn't a mistake. If so, why has it become such a significant day in the year of the church?

There is a sense in which people probably do appear foolish, throwing palm branches down in front of a procession led by a person who would be condemned to death within a week.

BUT THEN, Palm Sunday is observed, not as a celebration of man's foolishness. It is a celebration of the understanding of one who saw man's foolishness for what it was.

It is the celebration of the courage of one who was ready to do what was necessary to help men see their foolishness for what it is. It is the celebration of the love of one who could see past the foolishness of man and see the worth of man.

Man's foolishness is hardly a thing worth celebrating. The world has had about as much of it as it needs. But how about a celebration over understanding, courage and love?

Blood unit visits church blood bank. Information on the program and appointments can be obtained by calling 941-4190.

Complete care survey available on health day

A complete package of health care services will be offered to the public by the Huron Township Health Committee on its Huron "Health Day," scheduled for May 1.

Volunteer medical personnel, including doctors and registered nurses, will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. to give medical assistance and advice, as well as administer medical tests and immunizations.

Services to be offered include a blood donor drive by the American Red Cross, vision screening by the Metro Detroit Society for Prevention of Blindness, hearing tests by the Wayne County Department of Health, urine tests and a loan closet service display by the Huron Health Committee and a pap smear and breast examination by the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

In addition, there will be blood pressure tests, given by the Michigan Heart Association, immunizations for measles, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, oral polio and small pox. Tuberculin skin tests for pre-schoolers and food handlers will be offered along with health education film presentations.

The health day will be conducted at the St. Paul Auditorium, 19109 Craig St. in New Boston.

Immunizations charges will be 50 cents, and all other donations will go into the health committee's scholarship fund.

Transportation of school children in the Huron School District will be provided by school buses.

Primary physical education

Classes challenge the mind

Physical education is a challenge to the muscles, but for an elementary physical education teacher in the Romulus Community Schools, it's a challenge to the mind.

Valerie Harville is one of five physical education teachers in the district who rotate among its eight primary schools, providing instruction in such subjects as dance, gymnastics and first aid.

The district's physical education program varies according to preferences, specialty areas, space limitations and equipment, according to Mrs. Harville.

EACH CHILD receives one hour of physical education each week, generally coming in two-half-hour periods.

Because of the brief exposure to the concepts developed in each class period, the gym teachers try to work with the classroom teachers on the carry-over of values from the physical to the mental, social and emotional needs of the children, Mrs. Harville said.

Gymnasium floors are covered with games made of bright colored tape and paint with the cheery coloring carrying over onto the walls, which are decorated with different shapes and numbers.

According to Mrs. Harville, the purpose of the lively decorations is to excite the children about learning.

ONE YEAR'S instruction by the five teachers cover a number of subjects.

Movement classes help the youngster develop the correct way to jog, run, walk and jump, then branches out to creative activities in which they learn rhythms, interpretative actions and imagination development. Instruction includes novelty and folk dances along with singing games and current fads.

The teachers use classes in safety to help the students learn how to control their bodies in different situations and to teach them to be aware of hazards.

TO AUGMENT the physical instruction, the five teachers include health instruction in which youngsters learn recognition of the various bones and muscles and how they cause movement, cleanliness and proper weight.

Mrs. Harville said that, although her schedule may cover two schools in one day at times, the program has turned out to be a combination of new innovations and recycled instruction.

ROLLING PIN GAME—Angela Bowen (left) takes on the rolling pin game in which she attempts to keep in line with the colored pattern on the wall. Cheering her on are John Thriede (right) and Hope Barbau with physical education teacher Valerie Harville offering a few pointers. The youngsters are students in the Romulus Community Schools.

NEW HOSPITAL UNDER WAY — Construction of the new Belleville Memorial Hospital, a $6.8 million dollar hospital complex, is under way. Construction crews began the project on March 27. The new 125-bed medical facility will be located at Sheldon and Savage roads in Belleville. Interested onlookers at the start of construction were

Detroit man is charged in I-94 killing

A Detroit resident, accused of killing a 17-year-old expectant mother and leaving her body in Van Buren Township, will face a pre-trial hearing on April 10 before 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone in Romulus.

Robert Lee Dozier, 37, of 15113 Mark Twain, Detroit, is charged with first degree murder in the killing of Patricia Perry, also of Detroit, during a car ride March 23 along the I-94 Expressway between Ypsilanti and Detroit.

Dozier is being held without bond in the Wayne County Jail pending the pre-trial examination.

MISS PERRY died of multiple small caliber gunshot wounds of the head, said Det. Arthur Torkian of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

He said that the autopsy, performed by the Wayne County medical examiner, showed that Miss Perry was six months pregnant.

Police said Dozier, who is identified as Miss Perry's boyfriend, appeared at her home on March 23 with two women and one man.

Two teenagers found the body.

1974 GOLDEN PASSPORT PROGRAM

The Recreational Vehicle Institute has been informed by the National Park Service that the Golden Eagle and Golden Age Passport programs are being continued in 1974.

The Golden Eagle Passport covers entrance to all designated fee areas within the entire National Park system and is available to persons under 62 years old for $10.00. The Passport is valid throughout the year, and admits the holder and all persons accompanying him (or her) in a non-commercial vehicle, including and RV.

The Golden Age Passport is issued free of charge to persons 62 years of age and older, affording the same privileges as the Golden Eagle Passport plus a special 50 percent discount on camping and other recreational facilities for which a special use fee is normally charged.

Both Passports are available at any 1974 Federal entrance fee area or by mail from the National Park Service, Dept. of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240. The Passports may also be obtained by mail from the Forest Service Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Golden Eagle Passports may also be obtained at first and second class U.S. post offices. Golden Age Passports must be applied for in person with proof of age.

with Woodbury Green's

Mini-Down PLAN

What you do first.

Let's assume you can qualify and are approved for a mortgage on the condominium you want at Woodbury Green... and you can come up with a couple of hundred dollars. You can then move in right away and start making regular monthly payments of $232.50 a month.

What we do next.

We will credit each of your monthly payments* until there's enough for a down payment — as little as 5% of your purchase price at the lowest conventional mortgage rates available. Then, you take title to your condominium home, simply and easily as that. All the while you've been living in your Woodbury Green townhouse, enjoying the pool and the clubhouse and Belleville Lake and nearby Lower Huron Metro Park.

What you do now.

Come see the condominium townhouses at Woodbury Green. Check the features: 2 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, Whirlpool kitchen, central air-conditioning and more, and compare the value. Then ask our sales representative to do the figuring — and find out how easily you can move in at Woodbury Green.
